LE VOYAGEUR

Editorial

LUXURY IS FIRST AND FOREMOST A CULTURE

For over 45 years now, Le Voyageur has imagined vehicles designed for people looking for more than just a way to travel, but rather true quality of life.

Our demanding nature can be seen in every choice we make. In comfort on-board, in the quality of materials, in equipment reliability and the attention paid to the slightest detail.

Because luxury is never as simple as what can be seen, it is more of a feeling and we design vehicles that will offer the same peace of mind, the same pleasure and the same demanding perfectionism for every trip.

THE RIGHT LINES

With this new 2027 collection, Le Voyageur is completely rethinking the interior experience. Furniture lines have been redesigned to create more fluid spaces, ones that are easier to understand, nicer to live in.

New upholstery, more storage space, better integrated functional details: every component has been designed to naturally find its place, without overloading the whole.

This demanding approach takes shape in our Western France workshops, where every vehicle is assembled by professionals paying attention to the accuracy of every join and to the quality of the finish. The materials, selected for their quality and their durability, strengthen this quest for balance between looks, comfort and ease of use.

Every vehicle can also be customised inside and outside, to meet the owner's expectations.

Precision design, where design is not for effect, but for precision. Design that makes travelling simpler, more elegant.

TWO RANGES, ONE demand

New Le Voyageur vehicles have been developed with a simple idea in mind: offering a uniquely comfortable design experience, whatever the chosen model.

Héritage and Eterna are the two ranges, on a Mercedes or Fiat vehicle respectively, both using an AL-KO base, and now sharing the same interior, fully redesigned to ensure fluidity, coherence and a perception of quality at all times.

This effort to unify appearances runs to the outside lines, with a strengthened identity, especially for the Eterna range that takes its design cues from the Héritage line.

Two interior moods

Inside, a choice of two moods are offered, to express different sensitivities without ever compromising overall balance. In both cases, the same care is paid to materials, finishes and to overall harmony.

DUNE

lighter, inspired by luminous natural hues.

EDEN

deeper, with more intense contrasts.

HÉRITAGE

ETERNA

The combination of ever present Fiat power with the stable road holding of an AL-KO chassis brings excellent overall balance.

New possibilities for customisation, with exterior stickers that can be used to more subtly stress the character of every vehicle.

Technical DEMANDS

Behind the elegant lines and the refined interiors, Le Voyageur integrates technical solutions designed to offer high level comfort, reliability and peace of mind on the road. The Héritage and Eterna ranges combine some of the most advanced equipment in the field, with special attention paid to insulation, structural solidity, optimised storage and quality driving.

TECHNICAL EXPERTISE DESIGNED TO LAST

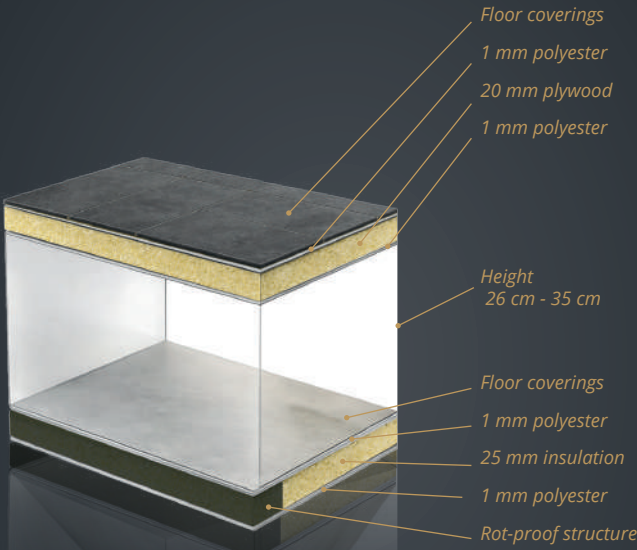

Technical aspects are never solely performance related, they play their full part in comfort onboard, peace of mind on the road and the quality of the everyday experience. Insulation, structural aspects, connectivity or driver assistance: every technology is intended to support travel over the long term, discretely and effectively.

INSULATION DESIGNED FOR ALL SEASONS

Sidewalls offering high thermal and acoustic efficiency

The sidewall design provides high efficiency insulation against hot and cold weather and noise, to ensure that you can make the most of the vehicle all year round, in the best possible conditions.

A double floor that is both technical and practical

Insulated, heated and perfectly sealed, the double floor contributes to the thermal comfort in the vehicle by distributing heat uniformly, like floor heating. It also protects the fresh and waste water tanks from freezing while optimising storage space thanks to a vast amount of space located under the floor. With a height of 26 cm on Héritage vehicles and 35 cm on Eterna vehicles, it will easily store equipment and personal property without cluttering the living space.

A CONNECTED VEHICLE DESIGNED FOR INTUITIVE CONTROL

The Full Box, an integrated control centre

From the onboard tablet, all of the vehicle's essential functions are always just a few touches away:

- water levels
- battery capacity
- heating & air-conditioning
- lighting or auxiliary equipment

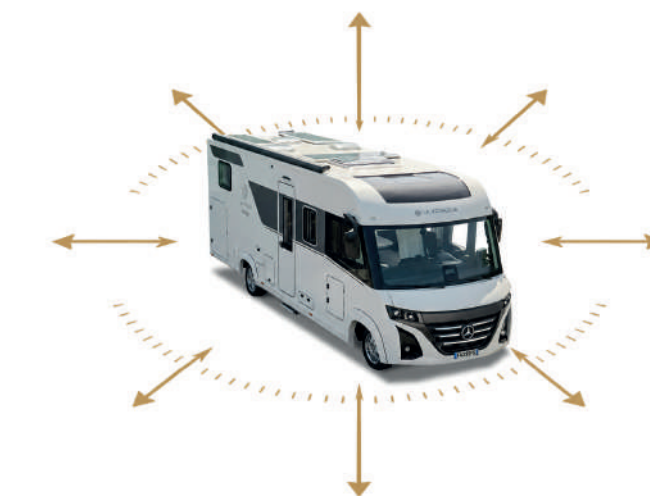

Light intensity can be adjusted by zone and the main equipment precision controlled to easily adapt mood and comfort to suit every moment of the day.

All of the functions are also accessible remotely via the Le Voyageur application available for Android and from the Apple Store.

Drone View: a 360° visual overview

Four high resolution cameras located around the vehicle generate an accurate real-time view that is displayed by the 10" display. This technology immediately shows you any obstacles close by, blind spots and overhangs, when moving or stopped, making it easier to manoeuvre in tight spaces or when parking. The system also includes a dashcam function with continuous recording by the four cameras onto a dedicated media, for use in daylight or at night thanks to nocturnal vision.

Norway

FROM KRISTIANSAND TO THE LOFOTEN ISLANDS, THE GREAT NORTH ROAD

In Norway, travel is as much on the road as when you cut the engine, facing out over a fjord, a mountain peak or the light that just never seems to end.

The trip starts at Kristiansand, in the south of the country, before moving along the wild coastline to Stavanger.

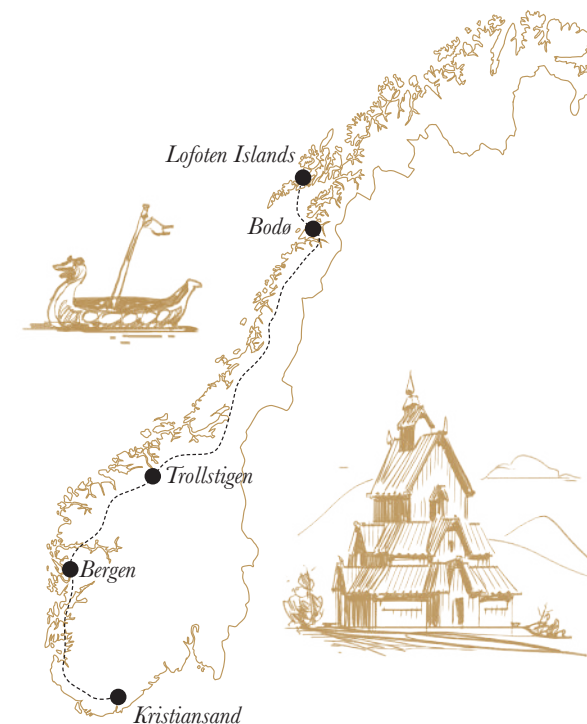

Very soon, the scenery changes scale.

From the Preikestolen car park, an accessible hike brings you to one of the most beautiful landscapes in Norway, suspended over Lysefjord.

Further north, Bergen is necessary stop before crossing the fjords. Then the vehicle drives onto the Geirangerfjord ferry, in the midst of abrupt cliffs, waterfalls and villages gripping the mountainside.

The road continues towards Trollstigen, its spectacular turns and dizzying vantage points, then on to the famous Atlantic Ocean Road, that sometimes seems to point straight out to sea.

After a number of days travelling up the Norwegian coast, Bodø is finally in sight. This is where you board for the Lofoten Islands, where the roads cross fishing villages, vast expanses of beach and where mountains suddenly rise right out of the water.

Distance:
3,000 - 4,500 km (depending on route)

Ideal duration:
At least 3 weeks

Recommended season:
June - September

Starting from: Kristiansand

Arriving at: Lofoten Islands

Type of roads:
Scenic roads, fjords, ferries
and coast roads

A UNIQUE FEELING OF FREEDOM

What made you want to join the Le Voyageur adventure?

"It all started during the Covid pandemic. Restrictions and distance gave us a really strong desire for freedom. After watching many documentaries on open spaces and life on the road, a motorhomes just seemed obvious. This wasn't just buying a vehicle, but choosing a new way of life. Since then, every new departure brings the promise of discovery, meeting new people and a new found freedom."

After a number of years travelling, what is it that you like so much about life on the road?

"We have travelled across 28 countries in four years. Every trip brings its range of discoveries, scenery and encounters. What we especially like is this feeling of bringing our own markers and our comfort with us, while discovering fresh horizons with every new day. Yet what we also love to come back to are the shared moments with our friends from the Cercle Le Voyageur group, around a table simply being together."

Was there a trip that you especially remember?

"Norway will always be a special memory. The light that just never seemed to leave the sky, the fjords that were spectacular and the open spaces that brought a feeling of freedom that is so hard to describe. Whenever we stopped, the scenery just took our breath away. This is a country where you feel at once so small when faced with nature and yet so incredibly alive."

What advice would you give someone setting out for the first time with a Le Voyageur?

"Travelling with a motorhome is finding the right balance between freedom and organisation. You need to take what's essential, stay flexible when faced with the unexpected and take your time. What is most important is doubtless to keep things simple and be adaptable. Often times, when you stray from the planned programme, that's when the best memories are born."

Italy

RIGHT AT THE HEART OF THE DOLOMITES, BETWEEN SKY AND MOUNTAINS

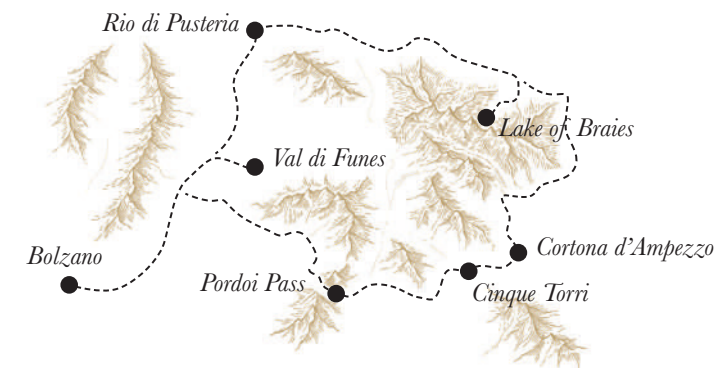

In the Dolomites, travel naturally alternates between motion and contemplation, with this rare feeling of always sleeping in close company with the scenery.

From Bolzano, the road progressively rises between woodland valleys, alpine villages and famous mountain passes. With a Le Voyageur, every stop becomes a new way to live the landscape: sipping a drink facing the peaks of the Tre Cime di Lavaredo, a stop on the banks of the Lake of Braies, or waking up in the foothills of Gardena Pass.

By day, the paths start almost from the motorhome itself: hiking around the Cinque Torri, a scenic walk to the Seceda plateau or a stop for lunch looking out over the Alpe di Siusi mountains.

Then comes the pleasure of getting back on the road, from pass to pass, between Cortina d'Ampezzo, Val di Funes and the twisting roads of the Pordoi Pass.

AN ESPECIALLY COMFORTABLE INTERIOR

What attracted you to your Eterna 7.0?

"We chose it for its looks, but also for its one level layout that is especially comfortable in everyday use."

When you set up in a new location, what is your particular ritual?

"Our first reflex is always the same one: set up the table and chairs. Summer or winter, we always eat all of our meals outside. Then we bring out our electric mountain bikes. We like to discover our surroundings as soon as we arrive, and we never stay still for very long."

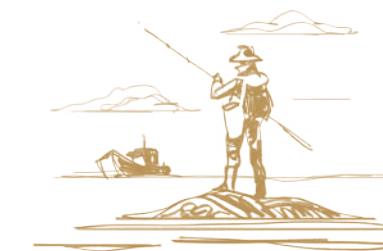

When you often travel with bikes, you always develop little habits... what are yours?

"Before we leave, we like to leaf through magazines and identify stops that are close to cycle tracks or beautiful natural areas. But without reserving, we like the to be free to change our route as we feel like it and as we uncover new things."

What advice would you give someone just starting out with Le Voyageur?

"Start with a few escapades in your home region. You will need a little time to find your marks and get used to the vehicle. Then everything becomes easier and you will make the most of the freedom this kind of travel can bring."

Provence

BETWEEN "LITTLE" ALPS & MEDITERRANEAN SEA

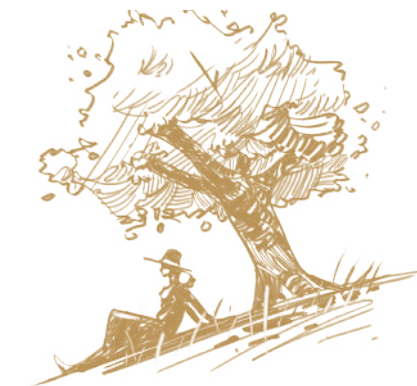

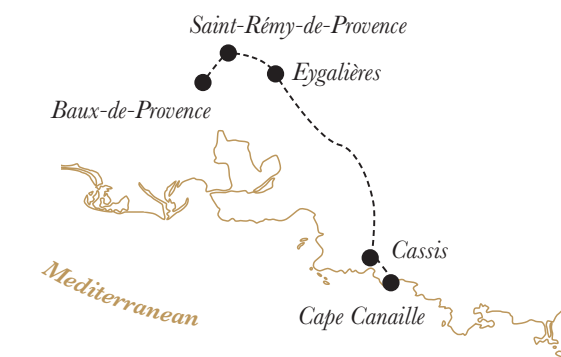

Between mountain outcrop villages, farmer's markets and sun drenched roads, Provence is uncovered less as a destination but rather a way to live your travels.

The trip starts at Saint-Rémy-de-Provence, between the bright façades, Provençal markets and the small roads lined with olive trees.

But very soon, you will slow down. In the morning, we take the bikes to cross the "Alpilles", the little Alps, to the village of Les Baux-de-Provence, before having lunch in the shade of the plane trees at Eygalières.

A few days later, the road points down to Cassis.

Then along the white cliffs of Cape Canaille, before the pleasure of setting our table facing the Mediterranean, leaving the windows open so that we can watch the light change from the lounge.
